“Ebola patients trickled into the hospital one at a time initially, but soon the flow picked up. One of the new patients was a doctor, Melvin Korkor, who had contracted the virus along with five nurses and four other workers at his hospital many hours away by car in the rural county of Bong. He had been told that he had a 10 percent chance of surviving.

Korkor thinks he caught the virus from one of his nurses when he touched her with his bare hand to check for fever. Before he left for treatment in Monrovia, he told his wife, "The only thing I want you to bring for me is a Bible."

At ELWA, Korkor read his Bible - particularly Psalm 91 ("Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence") - and drank 12 liters of rehydration fluid every day. He held his nose when he ate so that he wouldn't throw up.

Four days later he felt a little better, and realized he would live.

All nine of his colleagues died.”

When you get the web page, search within it for: (1) "Melvin Korkor", or (2) "Psalm 91", or (3) "Bible"

Note Melvin Korkor was already committed to God's Word. Also he was steady in meditating in God's protection/healing word and it took some time. As far as I know, he did not receive transfusion or super drugs.
